

Corporate Achievement AWARD WINNER

The Whiting-Turner Contracting Company is one of the nation's largest construction management and general contracting companies. They provide the full spectrum of construction services on projects small and large in markets such as hospitality, higher education, retail, mission critical, healthcare and office facilities.

The Whiting-Turner Contracting Company was chosen to build MGM's $1 billion casino-resort at National Harbor, Maryland which is scheduled to open in 2016. Whiting-Turner was selected for MGM's project at National Harbor "for its national and regional portfolio, and because it shares MGM Resorts' core values, striving to engage local and minority business operators at every opportunity and in every market the company operates."
